The Redcliffe success story began in 2004 with the critically acclaimed U.S. release of the debut 2004 vintage of Redcliffe Sauvignon Blanc. U.S. wine writers and leading wine magazines were quick to recognize this deftly crafted wine, responding with high ratings and glowing reviews. A combination of ripe pear and zesty citrus fruit flavors wedded to the alluring tropical fruit notes for which New Zealand Sauvignon Blancs are renowned, met with widespread praise.

Redcliffe’s winning concept extended to two varietals, Riesling and Pinot Noir, both of which continue to enjoy a following in the U.S. With the introduction of these two new varietals from Redcliffe, U.S. wine lovers can enjoy the same combination of well-crafted wine made available at a competitive price.
